

The 2007 California Pavement Preservation Conference

April 11 - 12, 2007 • Union City, California

The California Pavement Preservation Conference is designed to inform you about how your agency's roadway system can benefit from a pavement preservation program and what pavement preservation strategies will work best for you.

A pavement preservation program will enable your local agency to maintain its roads in better condition for less money over a longer life-span, while improving citizen satisfaction with the roads they use and pay for.

This conference will provide an opportunity for you to meet federal, state, regional, and local agency personnel and industry representatives, discover innovations in pavement preservation, and discuss methods used by other agencies to maintain and improve pavement.

This conference is intended for:

- street supervisors and road foremen
- maintenance engineers and managers
- construction engineers and inspectors
- materials engineers and technicians
- pavement management engineers

Conference Details

The general registration fee is $99 for the two-day conference and includes two lunches. The conference will be held at the Union City Crowne Plaza Hotel.

Conference Registration

Web: www.cp2info.org/conference

E-mail: melendy@berkeley.edu

Tel: 510.665.3608

Exhibiting

The exhibitor fee is $675, which includes two conference registrations, one exhibit space, one 6' table, and two chairs.

Hotel Reservations

To book a room at the Crowne Plaza, call (510) 489-2200 and mention Block # 123344.

www.cp2info.org/conference